

A day for you!

As women, we often have demands on our time. As we care for our families, work, and carpool our children to where they need to be, it is easy to put ourselves last.

This retreat is a day for us. We deserve and are worthy of taking time for ourselves.

As the greatest commandment reads: You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your mind; and your neighbor as yourself.

We are commanded to love ourselves, and to take time for ourselves.

This is a time for us to reconnect with one another and connect with God.

We hope this retreat will be the beginning of something wonderful! As we reconnect as women of faith, we hope we can grow together, This may be by having a Women's Bible or Book Study, having speakers come and teach us something new, or maybe we come together for coffee and fellowship. Whatever this blossoms into is what God intends it to be: women coming alongside one another on this journey of faith.
